In an age of consumerism we are beginning to crave the charm of handmade items, with those gentle imperfections that make out an object as being individual. Why knit.....??

Pagination Design Services provides digital printing services for quality short run printing (1 to about 600/1000 copies).

Digital printing is ideal for jobs where the required quantity is too low to justify traditional offset printing.

It also provides the flexibility of ordering just the quantity you need initially and then ordering additional quantities as required, eliminating the wastage caused by printing high quantities of brochures that may date.

Unlike many other agencies or design studios, Pagination has both design and production facilities, meaning that we are able to provide an economic full service from initial concept through to final film and print production.

Many projects such as newsletters, magazines or books require a wide range of pre-press operations including copy writing, advertisement management and design, digital photography, image scanning, page layout, proofing and final film.

Pagination offers all of these services as well as many post-press operations including packaging, mailing, assembly of cd/dvd packages, assembly of conference folders and promotion packs.

The Bedouin of Niger

1984 was a crucial year in the history of East Niger's Bedouin. It was the year of a terrible drought, where the sun failed and many nomads lost their herds of camels to starvation. Many of those who lost their animals migrated to Libya, the country from which the tribe had migrated in the 1840s, and whose language they share. Others built a village in a less remote area, where they now have a school and a clinic. Still others continue their nomadic way of life, herding their camels in the southern verges of the Sahara Desert.

1984 was also the year the gospel first came to this tribe. It arrived in the camp of the tribe's chief. The message spoken in French was translated into their own language by the chief's son. That weekend was the first and last time the gospel had come to them.

They were eager to hear more and promised to build a tent for the messenger if he would return.

They are still waiting!
Less than ten thousand in number, they feel neglected by the government and NGOs alike. As nomads, their way of life is under threat by frequent droughts and spreading desert sands. As Bedouin, they are a small minority in a black African nation. These pressures make them more open to the gospel than ever before.

How much longer must they wait?

The Short family

1984 was also the year that Brendan was deeply impacted by a sense of God's love for this tribe, and of their need to know love. As an 8 year old he volunteered to take the gospel to when he grew up.

Virginia became a Christian while in her first year at Uni after she was impacted by the testimony of a missionary and began seeking ways to be involved in Arab ministry. They married in 2001 and then added Esther (29-09-02) and Xavier (27-05-04) to their team. Having finished theological study, they have now been appointed by SIM to begin pioneer church planting among this people group.

Their first task will be to learn language (3 year of french in France, another year of Arabic, then two years learning the local dialect) and culture.

Brendan also has a degree in Civil/Structural Engineering which he may be able to use in providing wells to give their animals greater capacity for survival.

Virginia plans to teach their children and practice a ministry of hospitality as they build friendships with the Bedouin of Niger.

Serving in Mission
Serving the Bedouin of Niger

with the best possible understanding of the Scriptures. Brendan and Virginia are actively involved in the life of Mooklip Baptist Church. Brendan is on the Leadership Team with responsibility for Discipleship. He has regularly taught in our Cell Group ministry and was responsible for starting up the Christian Union at Deakin University in Geelong. Virginia has also been involved with our Cell Groups. She has a wonderful gift of hospitality, with a gift for making you always feel welcome. I highly endorse Brendan and Virginia's call to minister among the Bedouin people of Niger, and believe that the Shorts will be a blessing to them in many ways.
